CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

Women Deliver conferences offer multiple opportunities for learning, sharing, networking, and collaborating. Here are some of the features under discussion for 2016:

PLENARIES

World leaders, researchers, innovators, change-makers, and questioners make each plenary memorable and provocative. Women Deliver plenaries are not about speeches and presentations—they are about exciting conversations, multi-media productions, and engaging dialogues that drive the agenda forward.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

Innovative discussions allow participants to delve into key solutions and impact, with expert panelists sharing experiences, opinions, and insights, offering an incredible array of knowledge.

EXHIBITS

An amazing display of organizations and companies working on girls' and women's issues, products, and services will fill the exhibit halls. Contests and special events attract a steady stream of visitors to the multiple halls.

ARTS & CINEMA CORNER

An outstanding film festival that curates and features short-films, documentaries, campaign videos, music videos, and more on issues that girls and women face—one of the most popular Women Deliver events.

SPEAKERS' CORNER

Tailored after the famous northeast corner Hyde Park soapbox, the Women Deliver Speakers' Corner is the place for short, punchy talks on new projects, publications, and research.

YOUTH ZONE

20% of the conference attendees will be young people. When young people are not presenting or attending one of the great sessions, many gather in this special place to greet and meet their colleagues.

"TOUGH TALK"

NEW! New to Women Deliver conferences are the Tough Talk sessions, covering topics that ask the questions on everyone's mind and feature moderators who don't shy away from controversy and debate.

APPY HOUR

NEW! Mobile apps are bringing information into the remote corners of the world. Women Deliver will feature an "appy hour" to meet and greet the innovators.

CAREER FAIR

An educational and networking opportunity for people seeking jobs and internships take place in the exhibition halls. Educational talks on how to land a job are available in the early mornings.

SOCIAL ENTERPRISE COMPETITION

People and organizations present their ideas or products for advancing progress for girls and women in an elevator pitch contest before a distinguished panel of judges. Some will go home with new opportunities for their venture.

VIRTUAL CONFERENCE

NEW! This year, we are going beyond normal webcasting and we will curate eight hours of live broadcasting produced exclusively for the Women Deliver virtual community. Our virtual community will have the opportunity to shape key conference conversations from their desk or mobile phone.
