

The logo features a stylized arrow pointing right, composed of several overlapping colored segments (purple, red, orange, yellow, green, teal).

WOMEN DELIVER

A green outline of a triangle with a horizontal base and two diagonal sides. The word 'YOUTH' is positioned above the top vertex, and 'ZONE' is positioned below the base.

YOUTH ZONE

WOMEN DELIVER 2016 GLOBAL CONFERENCE | BELLA CENTER EXHIBITION HALL

The text 'WITH SUPPORT FROM' is in a simple sans-serif font, and 'Johnson & Johnson' is in a cursive script font. The text is centered within a large, colorful, multi-segmented arrow pointing upwards.

WITH SUPPORT FROM
Johnson & Johnson

TUESDAY, MAY 17

- 10:00
10:30
- Intergenerational Dialogue: 5 Key "Soft Skills" for Workplace and Career Success
Johnson & Johnson, Women Deliver
- This session will explore the soft skills – behaviors, attitudes, and personal qualities – that can promote the success of young adults in the workplace. A recent report from partners, including FHI360 and USAID, found five soft skills that are most important in increasing the likelihood that young adults will succeed in their careers. Michael Bzdak, Executive Director, Worldwide Corporate Contributions at Johnson & Johnson, will discuss the report — what are these skills, how can you develop them, and how should you implement them into your everyday career?
- 10:30
12:00
- What is "Comprehensive"? Best Practices in Comprehensive Sexuality Education
Youth Sexual Awareness for Europe (YSAFE), Danish Family Planning Association (Sex og Samfund), International Medical Cooperation Committee (IMCC) Denmark
- Starting from personal experiences, participants will debate different aspects of comprehensive sexuality education (CSE) with the ultimate goal of clarifying the concept, but also raising issues for further reflection. Participants will also be introduced to the Danish Family Planning Association sexuality education teaching method as a best practice of CSE and will become aware of this method and see the benefits and possibilities it holds.
- 12:00
13:30
- Forging New Alliances: An Intergenerational Dialogue with Policymakers, Part I
Youth Health and Rights Coalition (YHRC)
- This session is an open dialogue space for policymakers to engage directly with young people about issues they face in their work, including challenges young people face and future opportunities for engagement and collaboration.
- 13:30
14:30
- Putting the Sexy in SRHR: The Role of Pleasure in Comprehensive Sexuality Education
International Planned Parenthood Federation (IPPF), Rutgers, The Pleasure Project
- One of the primary motivations for people to have sex is pleasure, yet it is rarely discussed during sexuality education. Instead, the focus tends to be on avoiding risks in the form of unwanted pregnancies or sexually transmitted infections. Rutgers, IPPF, and The Pleasure Project will share experiences on creating a positive environment to discuss pleasure, and equip participants to deliver comprehensive sexuality education in a sex-positive manner.
- 14:30
15:00
- Dear Diary: Highlights from a Girl's Journey
Global Citizen
- This session will feature a number of influential women reading "diary" entries from pivotal moments in their lives regarding challenges girls face in education, women's economic empowerment, gender equality, and sexual and reproductive health. It will also highlight specific actions that people can take there on the spot to address these issues.
- 15:00
16:00
- Respect my Rights, Respect my Dignity: Participatory Ways to Tackle Taboo Topics
Amnesty International, ASTRA Youth
- This session will use participatory approaches to open up conversations on "taboo" subjects, identify challenges faced by diverse groups, and stand up for sexual and reproductive health and rights. Participants will first reflect on the power that different individuals and groups are given in society to access their rights, after which social theatre methods will be used to discuss sexual and reproductive health and rights issues.
- 16:00
16:30
- Intergenerational Dialogue: 5 "Musts" for Adding Value to Your Partnerships
Johnson & Johnson, Women Deliver
- Partnerships across sectors are critical to an organization's continued growth and success. In this session, Lauren Moore, Vice President of Corporate Citizenship, Johnson & Johnson, will break down the ways you can engage with partners to maximize the impact of your organization's work. Come hear the 5 "musts" you should be doing to add value to your partnerships.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 18

10:00

Make it Known - In the Youth Zone!

International Youth Alliance for Family Planning (IYAFP)

10:30

Youth advocates will have the chance to make it known what it is that they're doing in their communities. With short and fast descriptions of their work, you will be able to learn what a lot of young people do in a short amount of time.

10:30

What Youth Want: Boosting Access to Contraception and Youth Friendly Services

World Contraception Day Youth Ambassadors, International Federation of Medical Students Association (IFMSA)

12:00

This two-part session will tackle the barriers young people face in accessing contraception and youth-friendly services. World Contraception Day Ambassadors and representatives from IFMSA will bust myths about young people utilizing contraception, followed by a facilitated discussion about how to make sexual and reproductive health services more adolescent and youth friendly.

12:00

Gems of Our Time: Broadcasting Youth Voices

Curious Minds Ghana, Women Deliver Young Leaders

13:30

In this session, young people will record a broadcast of "Gems of Our Time," a radio show that advocates for the sexual and reproductive health and rights of young people. In this episode, youth conference participants will discuss different strategies for using media in sexual and reproductive health and rights advocacy with youth advocates from around the world.

13:30

Beyond "he" and "she": An Inclusive Approach to SRHR

Youth Coalition for Sexual and Reproductive Rights, Y-PEER

14:30

The session aims to share information on the importance of trans and gender non-conforming inclusivity and fostering dialogue between people who want to enhance their knowledge on the inclusion of trans and gender non-conforming people in their advocacy work. Participants will learn about the sexual and reproductive health and rights needs and concerns of trans and gender nonconforming people and will take part in participatory interactive exercises and breakout brainstorming to learn how to better advocate and share information on these issues.

14:30

S(H)ero Bingo

Ipas, Curious Minds Ghana

15:00

This interactive game will provide a fun opportunity for young people to network and discuss their personal and professional experience with sexual and reproductive health and rights; highlight the work being done by young people in the field of SRHR, especially around access to safe abortion and contraception; and shine a light on the stigma around talking about abortion and contraception with peers and colleagues.

14:30

The Unfinished Agenda –The importance of abortion access in the achievement of the SDGs

Ipas

16:30

This interactive gallery will display posters to help participants to broaden their personal perspectives on abortion and their understanding on how advancing access to safe and legal abortion is essential for the achievement of the new Sustainable Development Goals, especially those focused on health and gender equality.

15:00

Busting Abortion Myths

International Planned Parenthood Federation (IPPF)

16:00

This two-part session, lead by young people working with IPPF member associations around the world, will first discuss myths and facts around safe abortion, and then address the social stigma associated with abortion.

16:00

SRHR Trivia Time!

International Alliance for Family Planning, Management Sciences for Health (MSH)

16:30

This session will feature a fun activity to test your knowledge on sexual and reproductive health and rights! Participants will answer some trivia questions for a chance to win prizes! Trust us — you'll have fun.

THURSDAY, MAY 19

10:00

Forging New Alliances: An Intergenerational Dialogue with Policymakers, Part II

Youth Health and Rights Coalition (YHRC)

10:30

This session is an open dialogue space for policymakers to engage directly with young people about issues they face in their work, including challenges and future opportunities for engagement and collaboration.

10:30

Walking the Talk: Meaningful Youth Engagement Strategies that Work

UNAIDS, Youth Health and Rights Coalition (YHRC), Women Deliver

12:00

Participants will engage in round-robin discussions with representatives from youth-lead, youth-serving organizations about the work they are doing to meaningfully engage young people in sexual and reproductive health and rights and sustainable development.

12:00

Sing it Loud, Sing it Proud: Jam Session with Yvonne Chaka Chaka

Yvonne Chaka Chaka and the Princess of Africa Foundation, Women Deliver

13:30

In a “Jam Session” format, young people will learn about, and strengthen their skills in, using music as a tool for communication and advocacy. Young people and allies alike will learn more about the issues that affect young people, and make new music in the process!

13:30

Youth Take Charge: Leading Accountability for Development

Commonwealth Youth and Gender Equality Network (CYGEN), Uganda Youth Coalition on Adolescent SRHR and HIV (CYSRA – Uganda), dance4life

14:30

Three youth organizations share their best practices and strategies for including young people in advocacy. Join us to learn how to ensure inclusive and effective youth leadership in advocacy at different levels.

14:30

Youth Zone Sendoff

Women Deliver

15:00

Come celebrate with us before the Women Deliver 2016 Global Conference comes to a close! Make lasting connections with fellow youth advocates, and take a few more selfies before the official closing plenary.

